

In memory of Storm

It took me 2 years to reach the point where I could contemplate scattering Storm's ashes. I decided on her favourite spot in Newlands Forest - the stream. She is free again and with me wherever I go. She made me a better person and I will always be indebted to her.

We had to put my dearest friend, gentle giant to sleep on sunday the 31 October 2010. We will miss her forever, my heart feels as if a piece of me is missing, my house is lost without a friend that gave us so much pleasure, love...she was my everything.

She went with us all the places we went to when we went away on holiday, she gave us our rings on our wedding day, she gave me so much pleasure, that 8 years was to little time with her....

We must thank Karin for her ashes, this makes my heart feels so much better having something of her with us... but i will miss her for life.... to get over a best friend death, dont know if i will, but like they say "The way to bury a dog, is in the heart of its master.... thats where she will forever be in my heart... but my cuddles, kisses, hugs, is all lost now, and her kisses to me.

Miss you my angle and i will always love you but one day we will meet again.

Sweet dreams!

Love you soooooooooooooooooooooo much, and you are in my heart for ever
